SALOON KEEPER FINED.

His Patron Tried to Shield Him, but She Was Not Successful.

John Smiley, the saloon keeper who was arrested by patrolman Smith Sunday for selling liquor at prohibited hours, was arraigned in police court yesterday morning and fined $10 and costs. Smith saw a woman leave Smiley's place with a bucket. When she saw the officer approaching her she threw the contents into the gutter, but the scheme did not work, as there was enough left in the bucket for Smith to taste, and so he was able to swear that it was beer. Smiley stated that the stuff was for medical purposes and that he had sold it as a matter of accommodation.

Many New Appropriations Asked Under the Guise of Transfers-Council Would Usurp Power.

The Council passed the ordinance last night requiring the Central Union Telephone Company to place its wires underground within the mile-limit by Dec. 31, 1897, and to pay annually to the city $6,000 for the use of the streets in semi-annual installments. The ordinance for the appointment of a plumbing inspector, introduced at the request of the Board of Public Health and Charities last January, was reported by the committee on public safety and comfort, with the recommendation that it be passed after certain amendments. Mr. Woody voted adversely on the ordinance transferring $8,755.58, introduced at the request of the Board of Public Works, declaring that too much of that sort of thing was being done in the dark. Several amendments were offered to the ordinance changing the names of duplicated streets, and it was referred back to the committee. Throughout the evening there was a good deal of confusion, and several times the minority was at swords' points with the

In reporting on the Central Union tele- a large sum. phone ordinance Mr. Colter took occasion to criticise statements printed in a morning paper. He declared that the members of the franchise committee are not all lawyers, and that they could not be expected to dispose of an important measure in a day that had been before the Board of Public Works three months. He said the committee wanted time to understand the contract thoroughly before reporting in its fathe delay was causing unpleasant intimaindefinite thing ever brought before an intelligent body of men, and said that he could not support it. The ordinance passed by a vote of 16 to 1. Ayres, Clark, Colter, Dewar, Dudley, Kirkhoff, Montgomery, Murphy, O'Connor, Ohleyer, Puryear, Rauch, Shaffer, Sherer, Smith, Wolcott and Costello; nay, Woody. Messrs. Allen, Cooper, Madden and Payne were absent. Controller Johnson recommended the ap-propriation of $11,919.75 and the transfer of $440.25 to complete the work on the new north wing of the City Hospital. Of this $5.000 is for furnishings asked by the Board of Health, and $6,919.75 is required by the Board of Public Works to complete the wing, pay for engines and boilers, miscellaneous articles of furnishings and the architect's fees of over $600. The entire question was referred to the committee on finance, which has already made a tacit agreement to report favorably on the ordi-

The finance committee recommended the transfers requested by the Board of Public Works. Mr. Woody asked if the chairman of the finance committee understood why those transfers were asked? He declared that he was getting tired of having the Board of Public Works continually asking for more money in such an indirect way. Mr. Wolcott made an explanation which did not explain all the items, although he said that the board found that $1,000 in the horse feed and $1,000 in the new appropriate fixed and $1,000 in the new appropriate fixed and $1,000 in the new appropriate fixed and $1,000 in the fixed force. paratus fund and $1,000 in the fire force pay roll would not be needed for the purposes for which they were originally appropriated, and decided to build a new engine house in North Indianapolis. The transfer of $1,000 to the sewer fund, he said, was asked, as the board found it necessary to clean out sewers which have been in bad condition for a number of years. The board found it necessary to transfer $500 from the cistern to the in-cidental expense fund, but decided after-ward that $300 would be sufficient and the amount was reduced. Three hundred doilars was asked to be transferred to the fountains and well fund, as it had been found necessary to sink a number of deep wells this summer owing to the contamination of the public water supply. Mr. Wolcott did not go into details relative to transfers in the City Dispensary and City Hospital funds, other than to say $500 was transferred to the hospital salary fund, as there was another interne employed, although the appropriation originally made was $600 or $700 less than last year. The committee, he said, had considered the matter fully and was satisfied that the transfers should be made. President Costello suggested that the books of the city were always open to the councilmen who chose to make inquiries as to why transfers and appropriations were asked. Mr. Woody replied that that might be true with regard to some councilmen, but that was not as to all of them. Last winter the Board of Public Health and Charities, acting in accordance with the powers conferred on it by the city charter, caused an ordinance to be introduced providing for the appointment of a plumbing inspector as a sanitary measure. night it reported certain amendemnts, the Cooper who is running this year. ecommending that the ordinance be passed as amended. Mr. Clark called it up for second reading, when Mr. Wolcott moved to table the ordinance as it was amended and not as originally introduced City Clerk Stuckmeyer said that he read from the original, but admitted that he had read interlineations made by the committee, when Mr. Wolcott insisted that he had omitted one entire section. Mr. Wolcott withdrew his motion to table. Then

Mr. Woody asked to have Section 7 read again, as he said it contained provisions not generally understood, which authorized the plumbing inspector to charge $1 for all over two visits made to inspect work being done by plumbers. "We all know," said Mr. Woody, "that a plumbing inspector would find it neces-sary to make several trips if he were to get $1 for each of them.' An effort was made to have the entire ordinance as amended printed in the minutes, but by some error the wrong motion was made and the amendments were tabled. After the motion to table, Mr. Clark moved to print the ordinance as mended, but he was ruled out of order, President Costello explaining that the motion to table had precedence. On the motion to table the vote stood: Yeas, Colter, Dewar, Dudley, O'Connor, Ohleyer, Smith Weody, Wolcott and Costello, 9: nays, Clark, Kirkhoff, Montgomery, Murphy, Puryear. Rauch, Shaffer and Sherer. The ordinance now stands on the third reading with the amendments tabled. Several councilmen believe that the ordinance will be invalid if passed with the proposed amendments, as it takes away the power vested in the Board of Health by the

to public health and the enforcement of laws in relation thereto. As originally introduced the ordinance provided that any person must obtain per-mission of the city sanitarian to make alterations in plumbing, and the words "city sanitarian" are stricken from the entire ordinance and "plumbing inspector" inserted instead. Section 28 provides that the ity sanitarian may make any rules necessary for the enforcement of the ordinance, subject to the approval of the Board of Health. It is amended so as to provide that the plumbing inspector may make the rules, subject to the approval of the Common Council. The purpose of the amend-ment is to clothe the plumbing inspector and Council with executive power, which, in order to carry out the spirit and intent of the charter, should be lodged in the health

city charter, which provides that that body

It is almost certain that there will very little left in the city treasury at the end of the present year, as the expenditures will come up to within $5,000 or $6,000 of the receipts, as nearly as Mr. Johnson can now determine. At best, even if the receipts for the next six months equal those for the first half of the year there will be but little left. "Instead of having only $5,000 or $6,000 surplus a city doing a business the size of that done here ought to have $50,000 left to meet emergencies. It is not As the administration is very much opposed to an increase in the tax levy it is hard to determine where the money is to ome from for next year's expenses, considering Mr. Johnson's statement that it is not safe to count on any material increase from receipts. The receipts this year from taxes are less than last, as last year the railroad companies paid in a large gross sum of back taxes, after a court deision, but the increase in vehicle licenses and from other sources has overbalanced that item. Receipts from the hay market have fallen off considerably since it was moved to East Washington street and the ity attorney has been asked to ascertain the private market on West Maryland street cannot be closed unless it takes out a license. honors at the State fair-grounds track this week are all here and ready for the work before them. They go to-day, and the indications are that they will go in a manner never before witnessed on a race course. It is the opinion of old turfmen, of whom there are hundreds in the city, that never before was such an aggregation of harness horses got together on a single race course. There have been special events which may have been more attractive than any single event of this week, but as a whole the programme is looked upon as one which has never been excelled. It is a certainty that the Grand Circuit meeting this week will be the greatest event in racing circles that has ever occurred in Indianapolis. The programme even surpasses the meetings held at other points in the Grand Circuit, for Indianapolis has the advantage of having all the best entries of Detroit, Cleveland, Columbus and Fort Wayne, as well as scores of horses which have dropped out revenue from this source will amount to of other circuits for the purpose of competing for the big prizes here, and other horses which have done so well in the independent meetings as to be entitled to take rank with the classes which go here. Some have norses which are good under certain con ditions only, with certain quality of track. A slow track sometimes is worth a purse to the horse which is built with bottom rather than speed. Mr. Graves gave this class of owners little hope. He says the track is in better condition than he ever saw it, and this is the verdict of the horse-men who saw it yesterday. The rains of last week, the bright sunshine following, and the careful working of the track subsequently have put it in tiptop shape. Records should go aglimmering, and it is the opinion that many will be broken. Secretary Graves, of the Driving Club was asked last night what he had to say regarding the meeting. "Only this," h said. "We have the best track in the world to start with. The Driving Club has brought together here the best horses that could be found on the continent. If this does not make the best races possible I would like for somebody to tell us how to improve things. I think the Driving Club has done everything possible to make the first meeting as a member of the Grand Circuit a big success. The inaugural meet of the Capital City Cycle Club on its new track, opposite the State fair grounds, will be held this after noon and evening, and will be one of the biggest events in the cycling world that has occurred in the State. Besides the three races in which these lower his own record, and will also attempt to set the State record at a lower figure than it now is. The fact that the track is only a fifth of a mile may make it somewhat slower than it might be on a third-mile track, but it will doubtless be a better mile than 2:05. Sanger rode over the track yesterday afternoon and came back to the city confident that he can make a two-minute mile over it. Sanger will be paced for this mile by Ell Winsett, the fastest pacemaker on the track. He said yesterday afternoon that he considered the Capital City track equal to a two-minute mile, and believed Sanger could make the mile. Besides the professional races there will be several amateur races, both afternoon and evening. Some of the best riders in the State are entered for the several events of to-day.
